This month we feature a demonstration with Dennis and Linda on iChat... which handles text, voice and video chats, where others can be in on the Chat while one is, for example for demo purposes, in the hall and the other in the meeting room.

A special thanks to Jim Amaral for many, many years of dedicated leadership-level service to BMG. Jim has moved to Texas.

Your webmaster reminds it's not too soon to begin thinking of what you'd like to see, or show, at the next Mac Expo, in November. Meanwhile, for July we look forward to Matthew Belz's national award winning short movie, and how he did it in iMovie... and to our introduce-a-friend-to-BMG with Pizza in August. <http://www.buckeyemac.org>

A "Gaunt" Steve Jobs Intro's iPhone 3G

A visibly gaunt Steve Jobs introduced Apple's much anticipated new 3G iPhone, prompting concern's about the Apple icon's health. Apple press statements downplayed the questions and concerns, saying merely that Jobs had a bug and was on an antibiotic.

About four years ago, Jobs beat back a rare form of pancreatic cancer.

When asked about a succession plan, Apple said the company had such a plan but declined to elaborate on it.

"User Friendly" Writer's iPhone 3G Q&A

After having had time to reflect on all that was announced at the WWDC Keynote, a number of questions lingered for Ted Landau. He's not suggesting that these form a comprehensive FAQ about the iPhone 3G and 2.0 software, but that they are the ones that most interested him.

City Slicker?

If you don't live in a major metropolitan area, 3G may not deliver all you expected.
